

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Guardians and scribes aiding with transportation of Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds to the Notre Dame-Kansas football game Saturday will be given admission blanks at headquarters. Camp Fire Girls to be eligible for admission to the game must have a current membership card. Girls will be admitted at the north gate of the stadium.

A motto sent from the national headquarters to be used in connection with the current membership campaign is: "All Camp Fire girls can cook." Guardians have menus of meals which Camp Fire Girls will find easy to prepare. Sample meals were prepared last week in Atlantic & Pacific Tea company's test kitchen, New York city, during a broadcast.

Mary Jane Thallemer, member of the St. Monica Otoyokowa Camp Fire group, won first prize for selling the largest number of flowers in a sale Saturday to benefit the blind of South Bend and Mishawaka. Six of the eight major prize winners were Camp Fire girls.

Netoppew group of Lasalle school received its charter and membership cards at its last meeting. Marge Lee Hupp, princess, read the charter and Ednaeue Everet, scribe, read the guardian's certificate. Members of the Wetomacheck group of St. Monica's school planned their yearly program at the first meeting following summer vacation. Members of the Osceola Camp Fire group painted plaques at their last meeting. Miss Esther Crofoot is the new leader of the Osceola Blue Birds and Miss Grace Lynch is the new leader of the Osceola Fire group.

Senior girls gathered in headquarters for their first meeting of the year and approved a program for coming months.
